Specialists in Commercial Print Procurement

No one manufacturer can produce all print materials. Specifications are best suited to certain equipment, and navigating through a range of suppliers to ensure the best quality and price is a great challenge.

At PMA Global, we specialise in simplifying the sourcing of clients' print materials, delivering a great product, efficiency, productivity and cost savings.

PMA is 100% independent from manufacturers, providing an unlimited flexibility in engaging the best suppliers at the best price to ensure our clients the greatest value. Our aim is not to keep our presses full, but rather on finding the best supplier for each client requirement, big or small, simple or complex.

By selecting our suppliers based on their capability, their capacity and their reputation, we deliver the best products to our clients, at the best price, on time. All suppliers undergo a strict and thorough accreditation process and their performance is continually monitored by PMA's Strategic Sourcing team. Our philosophy in supplier selection ensures the ability to source suppliers locally, interstate and offshore, and through this, there is no limit to the specifications we can produce.

To support our clients' needs, all requirements are assessed by a dedicated account management team, and in consultation, each and every specification is sourced through with the most relevant manufacturer that will provide the quality our clients' brands deserve. It is this team that becomes an extension of our clients' business, perceived as one of their own employees, as they grow to understand their needs and make recommendations for the best execution.

To ensure complete efficiency, we have developed internal systems that making sourcing seamless. Specifications, volumes and deadlines entered enable to system to determine the most suitable suppliers, ensuring accuracy in quotation and the most efficient price for our clients. Suppliers quote online, and then are privileged with electronic feedback of success.

With experience spanning since 1988, PMA Global strives to deliver an excellence in customer service whilst giving our clients the opportunity to focus on their core business with the assurance that the sourcing and management of their printed materials is in good hands.

With the expertise of account management personnel, innovation through customized systems, and the support of specialist suppliers, PMA delivers quality, price and turnaround time according to each clients' briefs, every time.
